

This is just a short one.

Unfortunately as you can understand COVID curtailed many of the Off-road events at the start.

However as we now come out of lock down a few events are beginning to happen.

Buchan Off Road Drivers club have managed to run an Event under the new rules but have said it was a challenge, then the Aberdeen went into lockdown so events have had to be postponed. Hopefully they will be able to restart soon

The Scottish Landrover Owners Club have started to run events under the new rules with lots of success. The majority of off road disciplines have been carried out by the club. These events have been well attended and enjoyed.

The Annual Mud Master based in Dunfermline has said that they are open for entries and will hopefully go ahead in October.

Planning is well under way to stage the Borders Safari which due to COVID will be a cut down version of the Borders Hill rally run as a comp safari but with 2 stages live at a time.

The biggest problem currently is that families are not allowed to bring kids along and we are unable to have multiple drivers from out with the same household driving the same vehicle.
