There was only one subject discussed at the meeting that was relevant to Scotland, that is the ongoing Young Officials / Race Survey, little progress has been achieved, on behalf of Scotland I have offered to provide all information we create here through the SMS project that is relevant.

Having read other reports and noted the comments about the Ignition Event, I am very pleased that the it was such a success, having been personally involved since Feburary this year organizing content, personnel and running the circuit through SMRC I am very aware of how refreshing it was to see many different groups coming together to assist in the final outcome.

Rory Bryant put a great effort himself into the event from the outset and should be congratulated for his achievements, and a big debut for Gillian , but I wish to single out the efforts of Alison Clark, she worked hard for four days at the event in difficult circumstances, with great commitment and good humour, well done.

Brand Events have stated they will return in 2017 and hope to roll out in other cities in the UK, I trust this will be looked upon favourably by our Governing Body to become involved going forward.

See you all on Tuesday
