

SAMSC Autotest Co-ordinator Report.

Not much to report, I have recently attended 3 Autotests run within the current COVID guidelines and am pleased to report that everyone is taking this situation seriously.

Sanitation areas were all in place with an adequate supply of hand gel, face masks and gloves for the competitors and the officials, the majority observed social distancing and wearing of face coverings. The same people who set up the poles took them down and the only paperwork used was 1 check sheet completed by the same person throughout the day and results were calculated electronically.

It is reassuring that some events can still take place safely and efficiently within this current situation, these measures may well become the new normal to allow us to hold motorsport events.

I am in the process of co-ordinating the dates with the organising clubs for the 2021 Scottish Autotest Championship, there are still some clubs to confirm their events as counters in the Championship, once I receive them I will produce the Regs. And apply for the Permit.
